Read the barrel with burning cord, and when the cord is removed, the barrel should be clean and bright.

The stock of the Model 70 is the highest quality of wood available. It is made of a hard, close-grained wood, and is finished with a special oil. The stock is made for the hunter and is designed to give him a "Whispering Leaf" action and a "Right Hand" trigger.

The birth of the Model '66 was the beginning of a century of great Winchesters . . . the Model 1873 that Buffalo Bill Cody called "the boss"; Teddy Roosevelt's Model 1895 that he named "Big Medicine" rifle in the world . . . and all 81 other most popular deer rifle in the Model 94 — still the most popular Winchester's including the return of the '66 to start the second century. Being a "Winchester Man" means just as much today as it did out on the old frontier.
